AND FORCED TO GIVE HIM UP.

Mrs. Snowden Determined to Regain Her Husband's Body.

AND MAKE DIXMONT PEOPLE EXPLAIN

PERFECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR. WEST NEWTON, April 25 .- A rather peculiar case of kidnaping came to light in this place to-day. At Martin's Ferry, O., lives a family named Creswell, with whom has been living Mrs. Hattie Rhodes, an nged woman, the mother of Mrs. Creswell. Mrs. Creswell's sister, Mrs. Annie Shoneman, died a few months ago, leaving a husband and a bright black-eyed 2-year-old son. The little fellow's aunt adopted him, and he became the adored charge of the grandmother. About five weeks ago, a difference arose between the mother and daughter concerning the little fellow. A few days after this the old day left home, telling the daughter that she was going to the doctor's to get some modicine. That was the last heard of them until two weeks ago, when the grandmother re-turned home without the child. She would not turned home without the child. She would not tell what was done with him, but it was supposed that she was too much attached to the little fellow to stay away from him long, so she was constantly watched.

Mrs. Creswell, remembering that she had a sister living near West Newton, came here to day in search of her. She was accompanied by William Burns, Marshal of Martin's Ferry, who brought with him the necessary papers to reclaim the child should it be found. They went to the home of Mrs. Wheeler, at Port Royal, where to the great joy of the foster mother the child was found, playing in the dirt before the door, fat and happy. She was so overjoyed that she pre-seed the little fellow to her breast until he cried.

her breast until he cried.

The noise brought the Wheeler family out in full force, and when it was made known to them that the child was to be taken away, they showed fight, but 'Squire Washbaugh and the Marshal's papers soon cooled them down. Mrs. Creawell left for home this evening with the child, the happiest woman on earth.

A West Virginian Who Claims to Overcome Gravitation.

Pustian county, W. Va., will give an exhibition here to-morrow night, in which he claims he will show models and explain to his hearers how man can navigate the air as easily and now man can navigate the air as easily and gracefully as a bird. He says he has discovered how to overcome the law of gravitation, and will prove it by causing one of the models to sail about the room carrying a weight.

> The Labor Lines Drawn Closer. PETECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR.

ERIE, April 25.-All lines are being drawn closer by the labor organizations in view of the increasing interest shown in the coming truggle on May I. The Erie Central Labor Union, as the promoter of the idea of a Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, is moving in the matter. As the universal Federation is now an enormous body, they argue a State organi-eation will be more likely to attend to its own requirements without the usual delay in such cases. Responses are still coming in from dif-ferent unions, and the result will be made known when they are all in, as the answers seem to favor the scheme. seem to favor the scheme

MRS, SNOWDEN DETERMINED. She Says She Will Remove Hor Husband's Remains From Dixmont.

PETECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. McKersport, April 25.—Edward Snowden, of Biairsville, brother of the late George Snowden, who died at Dixmont, February 22, will commence to investigate the case to-mo row, with the widow of the deceased. They will visit the asylum, and will have the remains exhumed, so as to see that they are those o Seorge Snowden, and to ascertain, if possible if his death was caused by an apoplectic stroke if his death was caused by an apoplectic stroke, as is asserted by the people at the asylum. Snowden will also take steps to learn at once whether or not the authorities at Uniontown telegraphed to Dixmont that the deceased had no friends.

Mrs. Snowden says this statement is ridiculous, all the more so since her husband was visited so often; also, that she will not be satisfied until she goes to Dixmont and sees the remains. She says the hasty action of the management in not notifying her family, nor even her brother-in-law that he had died, had aroused her suspicions. She also says when she visited Dixmont this week she asked the man to whom she talked to have the remains taken up, and was told that she could not look at them as it would be too fearful a sight. Her sons will accompany them also when the asylum is visited, and it is probable the remains will be placed in a cusket and taken to Brownsville, where they will be buried.

AND WHAT ABOUT PANTS?

Are you supplied? Have you just what you desire for the spring? If not, we can please you beyond measure. The bare fact that we carry three times the quantity and variety of any other dealer, should be a prime incentive to discriminating buyers.
